REFERENCE -- NOT TO BE TAKEN FROM THIS ROOM
Why the sad face? Why the excited grin? We hear it said so often: "Bryan College is not about the buildings; it's about the people." It's about the faces of the people and what those faces represent. Bryan College is about changing the faces. It's about changing the faces of the people we meet on the hill, people we meet at Walmart, and people we meet everywhere we go. It's changing the sad faces to smiles. It's giving the kids something to smile about. It's the changes of our hearts. Bryan College is a place that exhibits "Christ Above All," drawing those from all over the world to a campus that will change their hearts forever...so that we can make a difference in this world because Christ is indeed above all. Enter into the changing faces of Bryan and imagine the work that God is doing in changing your face.

Changing Faces.
Dr. Bill Brown—forever our friend
Always a smile. Always ready. Always willing.

This yearbook is dedicated to Dr. Brown for his many years of faithfulness to serving God at Bryan College. A tribute to his many faces.
Dr. Bill Brown. He's been our professor, our president, our mentor, our leader, and our friend. He's been willing to fight for the students that he loves. He gives his time without showing frustration or exhaustion. He shows his heart and passion for Christ and His calling. He calls those around him to a higher standard not seen in society today. When he speaks, people listen. He isn't the whole of Bryan College, but he's been the backbone for years. He's pushed the focus to the people, through the struggles and the fights and the fires. His vision has brought Bryan College to a place unthought of by many. He will be missed—but his legacy will endure for generations.

Thank you, Dr. Brown, for pouring your life into our lives at Bryan College. We are eternally indebted to you.

Dr. Brown  We didn't start the fire
Socialize like crazy  Guitar mania where we've been
Who ever said that school is serious? The bondfires became standard to the class of 2003. The marshmallows, chocolate, and hot dogs only added to the class’ fervor for late night craziness. Add a few guitars and blankets and you have just one more night of fellowship and fun. We wrote the book on it.
One random senior said: "This was the most fun I have had in my entire life." Now that may not be the full truth, but the skate nights were just one more way to be crazy and have fun. Old school Christian rock graced our ears. With bands from dcTalk to Petra to Amy Grant, we rocked the night away and woke up the next morning with sore but happy muscles.

Oh, Danny. You were born a few years too late.
We began the tradition a few years ago to make the class chapels personal and enjoyable. Each chapel would have a girl and a guy speak on what God was teaching them lately. The focus was to hear from the heart of people in the class you may not hear from often. Each person who spoke left the class with new thoughts and encouragement. It was a chance to hear the stories behind the faces of the people we lived with every day. It is a great tradition.
Aaron St. Jacques share Scripture in one tradition where the seniors share the Word for several minutes. It was refreshing to simply be bombarded by the Word in the middle of our busy schedules that often left God until later.

Beth Eppinger and Susan Canida share prayer requests regarding plans after graduation and the days leading up to that. Extended group prayer was a staple of each chapel meeting.

Being the class of music, we usually participated in a few minutes of worship, just one more way to forget the classes and enjoy the reason why we are at Bryan College. And of course, each chapel ended with a healthy serving of Cinnamon Toast Crunch.
The mere beginnings of an incredible sand castle dedicated to Bryan College. I think they buried Kimberly Berry beside of it.

Senior Trip

The class officers managed to pull a few strings and grab a beach house for 16 of the girls.

Brewsters. Destin has three.

Dolphins. Wow
We went to Destin. You took finals sorry.

The dolphin cruise. Yeah for dolphins!

The class officers also managed a free meal at Fisherman's Wharf-complete with live band.

Dr. Brown addressed his last senior class of Bryan College and was later presented with a set of very large and very loud windchimes so that he would not forget the sounds of Dayton.

Over 600 graduates and their families joined Pioneer Foodservice in a senior dinner before the service. It was the largest banquet to date.
The tradition

The ribbon. Dr. Brown fittingly began the Vespers ribbon tradition several years after his tenure at Bryan began. All of the seniors stand in a “circle” in the front of the chapel and are asked to each hold the piece of a long red ribbon. The ribbon has the Bryan College emblem engraved into it. It is a visual symbol of how Bryan College has unified the class for four years and is bound together. The president comes and cuts the ribbon between each senior, severing the circle and leaving each graduate with a piece. It is a symbolic gesture that reminds the grads that the next day they will no longer have the same role at the school. They are about to begin the journey of life past Bryan. Even though the circle is broken, the grad retains a piece of the ribbon, reminding them of what their years have taught them. The lessons they have learned will carry them through and they will forever be bound to those who journeyed with them.

Charlie Phillips was the keynote speaker for the night, sharing about the amazing journey that God had brought him on through the past four years at Bryan.

Josh Bates and Kendra Laird sang a beautiful duet for the large crowd a perfect combo to represent the uniqueness of our class.
The class of 2003 walked the stage with a record 151 graduates and 13 50th anniversary grads.

After a week of heavy rains and flooding, the Lord blessed the class with a beautiful and warm sunny day, allowing the 70th graduation to once again be held outside in the triangle, as it has for the majority of its history.
Dr. Brown spoke to the graduates about the privilege of being the last class to remember and endure the fire. The fire of February 2000 proved to bring out the best in Bryan College, proving that the buildings are irrelevant. The people are what makes Bryan great.

Everyone looks forward to the homecoming banquet, where they can get dressed up, enjoy good food, and fellowship with friends—old and new. The main thing is celebrating our school, Bryan College, and the things that make it special from the past to the present, remembering the history of the school, which has made it what it is today.

Bryan College allows a special opportunity for incoming students to show the rest of the college community just what they are made of. The Freshman Talent Show allows the freshmen to not only show the God given talents they have, but also allows them to unleash a little of their crazy creativity. The RD's oh how we love them! They are there every night to tuck us in, make sure our rooms are clean, and are there for us when ever life is just a little too rough for us to handle by ourselves. Actually, the RD's are a lot like our parents when we think about it. They are a part of the whole that helps to create the Bryan community, our family. It helps too that they like to have a lot of fun, and they are close enough to our age to remember what it is like to be a mischievous student and sometimes they even get in on the action. Where would we be without them?

Gifted by God to love students!

Exactly one year after the terrorist attack on the United States, Bryan College students, faculty, staff and Rhea county guests gathered together in Rudd auditorium to remember and honor the sacrifice of thousands. The idea of having a county wide memorial service at Bryan came after last year's prayer service around the courthouse on September 13th, when the College and Dayton residents joined hands to pray for the nation. After the college's own tragedy two and a half years ago, it seemed only fitting that Bryan and Rhea County should join hands again to remember the sacrifice made and to honor those who risked their lives.

County emergency personnel were invited along with the rest of the community. Police officers, fire fighters, EMTs, and hospital workers were all represented and recognized for their service to the community. Along with the desire to remember the lost and courageous of September 11, 2001 and February 6, 2000, Brown said that the service was also to remember the sacrifices made by many other Americans throughout history to preserve the freedom all Americans enjoy.

Dr. Doug Russell, pastor of Grace Bible Church and president of the Dayton Ministerial Association, gave the keynote address. Russell used many examples from the past, for example Pearl Harbor and the stock market crash, to remind the audience that America had been in this situation before. "We are faced with a decision. Are we going to choose to depend on God or are we going to depend on ourselves." He went on to say that a year ago, most Americans were on their knees before God praying for the nation. Now a year after the terrorist attacks, America is still saying "In God we trust," but not "In God we stand."

"Give me liberty or give me death" and "Free at last, free at last! Thank God Almighty, we are free at last," resounded from the stage as four Bryan students read speeches made by men like Patrick Henry, Abraham Lincoln, Martin Luther King Jr., and Ronald Reagan. The Bryan College Chamber Singers opened the service with the national anthem and the Chorale closed by singing a resounding rendition of "America the Beautiful."

This year's banquet took a journey to the mountains of North Carolina for an evening of fun and elegance. The three hour bus ride made it's first stop at an amazing buffet dinner.

The second stop was the church sanctuary where the senior video was shown, thanks to the tireless efforts of Adam Drake.
The final stop was The Factory, a family oriented dream world of games, food, and fun.

The early morning hours were filled with video games, bowling, go-karts, laser-tag, putt-putt, and an arcade lover’s heaven.

Well, to be frank, the rest of the team
This Year the Baseball pages are dedicated in loving memory of:

Greg Hendry

Greg was a great friend and one of the most coachable guys I've ever met.
He was always willing to play wherever needed. Completely unselfish and always smiling, his character always showed thru in his confident, non-chalant smile. I will always remember and truly miss him here, but can't wait to see him again in Heaven.

Tim Fort
Assistant Coach
When I think of Greg I instantly remember how he always had that half-cocked smile on his face and he looked like there was something that he knew that you didn't that was funny. Greg was never selfish and he always tried to help everyone else out in any way he could. There was just something about that whimsical smile on his face. He had such a unique concept of this world and life as we know it. Greg maybe dead to most, but his spirit lives on forever in my soul.

Brett Williams #20

Greg Hendry was a great friend, a valued Christian brother, and an encouragement to me, especially in our association on the baseball team. He was a talented catcher/ third baseman, and I enjoyed seeing him in action on the field. For some reason I will always remember his voice and his faint smile as he responded to me with something like, 'Ok Coach.' I miss him a lot, but I look forward to seeing him again some day.

Jack Traylor
Assistant Head Coach

Greg was a good friend and I am always going to miss him

Michael Brooks #1

Greg was a tremendous guy and an extremely hard worker. We will miss Greg as a friend and as a teammate for the encouragement he brought on and off the field.

James White #4
Baseball is back at Bryan College after an absence of 17 years. This year's team was compiled of mostly freshman. The team was coached by Preston Douglas, Dr. Jack Traylor, and Tim Fort.

The Cycling Club at Bryan College focuses not only on competition but also on ministering during competitions. This year’s club, made up of 10 men and women was only able to participate in one of their four scheduled races, but they have hope that next year’s team will be stronger and able to compete more regularly. “Bike racing is a lot more intense than most people think. Races can last up to two and a half hours,” David Starbuck told a triangle staff writer. With training of up to 70 miles a week, it takes a lot of time and energy to be involved in the team, but the members feel it is well worth it to be able to do something that they love but minister to those who may never come in contact with Christian athletes. “The chance to witness is a lot more exciting than winning a race,” says Starbuck.

- edited from Chris Travis’ article in the Triangle April 2003
The Ambassadors are a group made up of students carefully chosen by both peers and staff. The group is committed to offering hospitality to visitors, through showing them the campus on tours, answering questions prospective students may have, and ensuring that their stay upholds the school's motto of "Christ Above All". This is not an easy group to be involved in. Some of the busiest visit times are also those times when students are their busiest with school, work, and extra-curriculars. None the less, the Ambassadors make prospective students a priority.

The Admissions Office is the main hubbub of the College. Without this office, most of us would not be in attendance at Bryan. They are responsible for communicating with prospective students, ensuring all their information is kept up to date, and when the time comes they welcome new students into the Bryan community.

Travis Stevens checks his map before he travels to meet prospective students.

A majority of Jody Cheon's work relies on phone communication with visitors.

Joanna, Emily and Travis hand out packets during the caravan.

Mrs. Zensen works diligently answering the switchboard.

EVEN WITH ALL THE WORK, THE STAFF HAS SOME TIME TO HAVE FUN TOO.

Students traditionally lead the worship for chapels with student organized bands.

Lucas, Morrison, Sampson, Tom, and Bathazar came all the way from Papua New Guinea to give one of the most spectacular chapels to date.
The long walk to chapel...

It comes about four days a week. For some it's less; sometimes it's more. And it's different for everyone that walks it. On those crisp and sunny fall days, we walk through the falling leaves and let our gazes find the color-speckled ridge that rises above the valley. We walk from our 9:00 classes or rush out from our dorms, hoping the clock in our room isn't reading the correct time. We rush from Activity classes in the gym, still sweating and breathing hard. We walk from our cars after dodging the droves of students and faculty crossing the streets. Sometimes it's a monsoon and by the time we reach Rudd Auditorium, we look like we just got out of the shower with our clothes on. And then the winter comes and fewer students make the trek, choosing to grace the computer lab rather than face the biting wind that attacks Bryan hill.

Through all of the seasons, we continue to walk to chapel. With a million thoughts in our heads, we never know quite what to expect. Oh sure, we have an idea of how things have gone before, and sometimes we wish we would have stayed in bed. But then there are the times where you wish chapel just wouldn't end. There are the chapels that end up in the lunch discussions for days, chapels that really do challenge us and open our eyes. There are the chapels that leave us rolling in laughter and longing for more. So each day the students and faculty of Bryan College make the long walk to Rudd Auditorium, each expecting something different. But whatever we expect and whatever we receive are sometimes irrelevant. Chapel is a place where the entire community of Bryan College has the opportunity to come together and worship, laugh, cry, pray, and ponder. It's a break from classes and a time to greet our friends in the morning.

So the long walk to chapel, wherever it originates or wherever it takes us, is an integral part of Bryan College. Whether it's the honest praise of Josh Beles or the fervor of John Piper or the constant wisdom from Dr. Bill Brown, we have a unique opportunity to experience what most people will never get the chance to experience. Without chapel, the community of Bryan College would disappear. So I gratefully make the long trek to the bottom of the hill, through the leaves, sun, biting wind, snow and rain. Because once I reach the orange seats and high ceilings of Rudd, I know that the long walk was probably worth it.
It's a tradition each semester on the hill. We get a day off from classes for no other reason than to pray. Opportunities are planned for groups to get together and pray, to rest, to enjoy. It's one more unique happening at Bryan College. The hill is covered with prayer, Scripture, and dedication. With so many different faces at Bryan College, we are all bound by Christ, who really is above us all.

Shana and Julie help their pals decorate their cookies with icing. The cookies were a real success.

This year the Pals presidents Allison and Brock had a lot in store for their little friends. The year was jam packed with activities like camp-fires, sleepovers, pizza parties, and even a trip to Chuckie Cheezes.
God really blessed the His Hands ministry this year. After losing BEM, His Hands had to find other places to minister. We performed for BBC and some local churches. We also had the opportunity to go to a One Way Street Festival in Louisville where we were awarded a bronze medal. We started using blacklight puppetry this year as well. With 15 members this year we were able to do so much more than ever before.

Lauren loves puppets!

The kids were the highlight of our evenings. From Sunday morning Sunday School to VBS we had tons of fun. Each one of us got close to a child while there. We held VBS Monday through Thursday evenings from 6:30 we got them all home.

Also while on the trip we put in a side walk, repainted trim on the church and outside bathrooms, cleaned ALOT, and scrapped and began to repaint a house down the street. Needless to say our team was always on the go.

On Saturday, we drove three trucks up to a village in the mountains to give away some of the clothes that we sorted during the week.

The best part of the week was holding VBS every afternoon in a nearby village with about 150 children. Several children were saved that week. The children accepted and loved us so fully that it was impossible not to get attached.

The Spain/Morocco team, although small was a very tight knit group. The main focus of their trip was prayer and a lot of time was spent getting to know the other team members, and together praying for the people of these two countries. They also ministered to the locals through handing out Christian literature in their own language at ports in the cities. The trip was also full of learning experiences from the local missionaries who have affected the team members perspectives on how they view ministry and the Christian faith.

What’s going on here?!!

Comedy of Errors
The Tapestry Singers, a women’s music group, was born in the fall of 2000. The past three years have been a great experience and a lot of fun. Unfortunately this will be the last year that the group will be led under the direction of Mrs. Kelly Stultz. She will be missed by the women who have been taught so much through her.
The Chamber Singers had a great year with many blessed performances. They travelled both locally and nationally during Spring Tour. This year the Singers had an opportunity to sing in a prison, and they ended the year with a trip to the Bahamas to sing and minister.

The Chamber Singers perform for the 9-11 Memorial Service

Dr. D. Lizzy, and Jon love to sing!

Wade in the water... Does that have anything to do with the water in the Bahamas?
The hills are alive... with the Sound of Music.

The sun has gone to bed and so must I.

Mother Abyss tells Maria to go back to the VonTrapps.

"I'm Liesl, I am 16 years old and I don't need a governess." Maria meets the VonTrapp family for the first time.

The VonTrapps sing together to close out the play.

Professors never boss students around or point a finger at them, they merely suggest strongly
They work during the day, and go to school in the evening. To these students, schooling is so important to them that they sacrifice the long hour days, and spending less time with their families in order to complete their degree.

Donnie,

We are very proud of you. We know you will be successful at any endeavor, and you will use your talents and gifts for His glory. You have always "made a joyful noise unto the Lord."

Love,
Mom and Dad.

The mind of a man plans his way, but the Lord directs his steps.
Proverbs 16:9

Congratulations, Dawn!
We are so proud of you!!

Love,
Dad, Mom, Dan, Michael MoeMoe, & Matt

T.W.

It is an honor to call you "our son." The gifts and grace of God upon your life humble and gladden our hearts. In you, your character and your accomplishments we are favored undeservedly by the Lord. You are a crown of joy. May that crown be jeweled with humility, purity, servant love, and an ever-increasing passion to be satisfied in God.

We love you.
Your grateful parents.

Kimberly,
Hey dude, we're graduating! I wish you could be at Bryan when I get there so we could continue our many memories I already cherish. May God be with you as you continue to reach your dreams. Don't forget to always be sure you turn on the main power switch.

Love,
Christine
Isaiah 40:31

Kimberly,
Congratulations on your graduation from college! I am very proud of you. It will be neat to see what the Lord has for you next. Trust in Him and He will lead you! I am very grateful we got to spend your freshman and my senior year at Bryan together. It was definitely a safari and a little b-venture! Whenever you feel down or sad, just remember to shake your bon-bon.
Love,
Jennifer --Proverbs 3:5-6
But those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength;
They will soar on wings like eagles;
they will run and not grow weary;
they will walk and not faint.
Isaiah 40:31

Charlie,

We are very proud of you, both in your school work & your desire to serve the Lord.

Dad, Rosalyn, Mom, Bo, Mackie, Michael & Corey
Adam and Sarah,

We praise the Lord that you have honored Him. And by doing so, you have honored us. We love you and are extremely proud of you. We take joy in who you are and Whose you are.

Psalm 127:3a  Behold, children are a gift from the Lord.

Abigail, we have always considered you such an incredible gift.
It has been a delight to be your parents.
May you further the Kingdom of God with the gifts that God has so generously entrusted you with.
And most importantly, may your heart always delight in the love that
The Father has for you. You are a much-loved child.

Love,
Dad and Mom

Congratulations!!! School is over!!!!
Jennifer,
You are our precious gift from God. Watching you mature into a lovely young lady has been one of life's greatest joys.

We love you!

Kathryn,
you were a gift from God, a sweet reminder of God's grace and love when you were born 22 years ago. You have grown from a joyful young girl into a talented, creative and gracious young woman. We are proud of you and look forward to watching God continue to work out His perfect will in Your life.

Ephesians 1:3-6
Love, Mom and Dad
Congratulations, Bryan!

May you continue to seek God's will in every "step" of life.

Love,
Mom, Travis, & Tracey

How can we thank God enough for you in return for all the joy we have in the presence of our God because of you.
1 Thessalonians 3:9

We have memories of the past and goals for the future. As you begin your next journey may you continue to let the Lord be your guide. We're so very proud of you!

Can't forget the talent at Bryan College:

We have some talented students on campus, and some that are just a little crazy. More than anything we know how to have fun, and that is what the talent show is all about.
Trust in Him at all times, O people;

for God is our pour out your hearts to Him.

refuge.

Psalm 62:8
To Him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations for ever and ever! Amen.

Ephesians 2:21
BRYAN COLLEGE:
Educating students to become servants of Christ to make a difference in today's world.
and this I pray,
that your LOVE may abound still more and more in real KNOWLEDGE and all discernment, so that you may approve the things that are excellent, in order to be sincere and BLAMELESS the day of Christ; having been filled with the fruit of righteousness which comes through Jesus Christ, to the GLORY and PRAISE of God.
